LEARNING OBJECTIVES: This paper aims to develop an advanced understanding of school psychology, including developmental, assessment, and intervention frameworks within educational settings. It also aims to enhance students' ability to critically apply psychological principles to support children's academic, emotional, and social well-being.

COURSE OUTCOMES:

1. Analyse the foundations of school psychology, including developmental theories, inclusive education, and child and adolescent behavioural concerns. Critically evaluate the roles and functions of school psychologists in addressing diverse educational and mental health needs.
2. Analyse and apply school-based assessment and intervention strategies, including consultation and therapeutic approaches, for children and adolescents. Evaluate the effectiveness of these interventions while integrating child rights, safety, and ethical considerations in practice.
